Notes and Findings:

- The Counting for Dollars Project will identify all federal financial assistance programs relying Decennial Census-derived data to guide the geographic distribution of funds.
- As an initial product, the project is publishing tables on the distribution, by state, of FY2015 funds from 16 large Census-guided programs.
- For every program but the National School Lunch Program, the equitable distribution of funds to a state depends on the accurate measurement of its population count and characteristics.
- There is not a straight linear relationship between state population count and federal funds flow. The per capita figure allows cross-state comparisons of fiscal reliance on census-guided programs. It does not indicate the amount by which federal funding increases for each additional person counted. (See The Leadership Conference Education Fund, "Counting for Dollars: Why It Matters.")

Definitions:

- Census-derived statistics federal datasets that are extensions of or otherwise rely on the Decennial Census (list available on project website)
- Census-guided financial assistance programs programs that rely on Census-derived statistics to determine program eligibility and/or allocate funds to states and localities
- Per capita total FY2015 obligations for the 16 programs divided by population as of July 1, 2015 (per the Census Bureau)
